

Sally CHABR

Chairs & Stools / Design Collection

Sally CHABR brings an armchair-like enclosure to a dining seat, with upholstered sides and a curved back. A belt-and-button detail crosses the rear, giving the chair a clearly considered reverse view rather than a plain back panel. The arms make the table fit important: check both their height and the space between neighbouring seats. A place at the table end can leave the rear fastening visible from the room.
